

Peace Talks Cause Discord

tonight in order to move along to the other issues.

By: Molly Diehl

As the representatives of General Assembly came together for the first time in 2013, they wanted to waste no time on the topic of Civil Unrest. However, as many came to realize, it's easier said than done. Some of the delegates thought peace talks would not appeal to concerning conflicts that have left thousands dead particularly in the Middle East. Questions were raised concerning nations refusing to take part in peace talks.

The first resolution was finally tabled because of its repetitive peace talk solutions. A majority vote passed for a resolution that took a more aggressive approach. The delegates from Bosnia and Herzegovina strongly urged a plan of action through diplomatic means which also carries flexibility to protect civilians such as women and children. There are high hopes for a passing of this resolution by the end of