Description of Major: Religious studies analyzes the human relationship to what is conceived as ultimate reality or the highest reality. It studies the beliefs, practices, and behaviors that are expressions of this relationship, examining them in their individual and corporate, historical and contemporary forms.

Human history displays established patterns of the relationship to ultimate reality in the world's major religious traditions. Religious studies majors learn about the major world religions in all their diversity while also focusing in a special way on Christianity, its sacred texts, and Christian theology. Within this framework, students have significant freedom to shape their program of study in the direction of their interest. Students can choose a more general analysis of the world religions or they can make a more intensive study of Christianity with their electives.

The religious studies major stresses the development of skills in critical thinking, reading, and writing. It involves significant use and analysis of scholarly methodologies to understand the phenomenon of religion and interpret religious texts.

Student Learning Outcomes

Students will:

- Understand and analyze the history, geographical distribution, and beliefs and practices of the world's major religions.
- Understand and analyze the history, beliefs, and practices of major Christian groups today, focusing on Christianity in the United States.
- Understand and implement contemporary scholarly methods for analyzing sacred texts, religious history, and religious expressions.
- Display competency in reading, writing, and critical thinking skills.

Preparation: The religious studies major helps prepare students for seminary studies and/or a career in Christian ministry. It also helps prepare students for academic graduate work in religious studies or other fields. Students can use this degree in any career that values critical thinking and sensitivity to human motivation, and involves encounters with diverse communities of belief in our increasingly global society.
