Aware that about 4,000 refugees from Iraq, Syria, and Afghanistan remain at the Belarus border attempting to seek asylum in Poland and other European Union countries despite facing harsh winter conditions that have killed more than a dozen individuals and temporarily living without proper shelter, limited food, water, medical supplies, or access to humanitarian aid, and

Understanding that in the summer of 2021 Belarusian authorities assisted refugees from Iraq to travel to Minsk, although both Poland and Belarus authorities are unwilling to allow refugees into their nations as asylum-seekers, and

Noting that this is the largest European Union border crisis since 2015 when migrants gathered in Turkey to cross into Europe, and understanding that Polish border guards have used water cannons and tear gas against refugees that have thrown stones at guards in retaliation and that Belarusian border guards have beaten refugees while prompting them to cross the border, and

Bearing in mind that Poland's denial of immigrants seeking asylum under refugee status and their return of immigrants to their native land where they were being persecuted is illegal under the Common European Asylum System, which has its basis in Article 14 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, stating that it is a human right to seek asylum, and

- 1) Stresses the importance of protecting refugees that are the victims of armed conflict worldwide and the effects that ensue afterward and recognizing the severity of the humanitarian crisis;
- 2) Desires for the governments of Belarus and Poland to allow humanitarian staff, civil society representatives, journalists, and lawyers access to the area;
- 3) Requests for Poland to consider reviewing their legislation about detaining refugees in line with international law and providing adequate physical and mental healthcare, along with access to independent lawyers and human rights monitors while being detained;
- 4) Requests for a fund to be constructed by the United Nations in order to allocate funding to aid food distribution and other services, and to request monetary donations from both member nations and international sponsors to aid the distribution of sufficient food, healthcare, clean drinking water, and sanitary facilities for the refugees;

The Socialist Republic of Vietnam on the Belarus/Poland border crisis

COUNTRY: The Socialist Republic of Vietnam

TOPIC AREA: The Belarus and Poland border crisis

COMMITTEE: United Nations Security Council (UNSC)

The Belarussian general elections that were held on the 9th of August 2020 were mired in controversy. Many nations, including the nations of the European Union (EU) have questioned the legitimacy of the elections. This led to a further escalation of violence in Belarus, and were followed by sanctions applied on the nation of Belarus by various EU nations and institutions. Minsk, feeling threatened by their 2nd largest trading partner, have used unconventional geopolitical tactics against the nations of the EU to apply pressure. Minsk has issued visas to various citizens of developing countries and offered them assistance to migrate to the EU through lightly guarded Poland, such as cheap flights, transport, and barbed wire cutters, creating a new international flashpoint and a humanitarian crisis.

CURRENT CONDITION

Minsk has not stopped applying pressure to the EU through this unconventional tactic. It has, however, caused the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) and the EU to condemn such actions. It has also caused Warsaw and the EU to start to deploy military personnel and construct steel walls to keep refugees away from the EU. As a result, these refugees have been stuck in Belarus with inadequate access to food and shelter.

THE POSITION OF THE SOCIALIST REPUBLIC OF VIETNAM

The Socialist Republic of Vietnam strongly believes that other nations should recognize the results of the elections that occurred in Belarus in order to ease tensions and to not interfere with the Belarussian democratic process. There should also be talks held between Poland, Belarus, and the EU in order to ease tensions in the area.
